FIGHTING COMMENCES IN TWO THEATERS OF WAR

REDUCTION OF ARMS TO BE DISCUSSED AT LEAGUE MEET

Chinese Gratified By Election Of Tang

ROAD TO PEACE

Path Is Now Clearer Than Ever, Says MacDonald

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, September 2.—M. Herriot arrived here today. He was given an enthusiastic ovation.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 2.—The chairmen of the six committees of the Assembly of the League of Nations include Sir Littleton Groom (Australia), chairman of Committee One, Mr. Adachi (Japan), chairman of Committee Four, M. Titulesca (Rumania), is chairman of Committee Three, which is the most important as it deals with reduction of armaments which the Assembly will discuss on Thursday in the presence of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and M. Herriot.

The Chinese Delegation is very gratified at the election of Mr. Tang Tsai-fon as a Vice-President.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 2.—Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, interviewed by a representative of Reuter's News Agency en route to Geneva, said that the world was clearer than ever for a real discussion of armaments and national security. Nobody had yet devised a satisfactory disarmament scheme but we were nearer to it as various obstacles were being successively removed.

A lot of nonsense, said the Prime Minister, had been written about the Anglo-Soviet Treaty. The whole position of the negotiations was altered by the Russians' surrender to us. We had in no way altered our position and it was as clear as ever that unless a settlement of debts and obligations was reached there would be no loans or guarantees for Russia.

Mr. MacDonald defended the Government's rejection of the Mutual Guarantee Pact, which would probably have led to the secession of certain British Dominions and other nations from the League of Nations and would have for ever closed the door to the adherence of America and other States.

The Prime Minister emphatically disfavored using force to enforce decisions of the League of Nations, which would only destroy its power.

(French Wireless Through Reuter)

Paris, September 2.—M. Herriot will be the guest at a luncheon given tomorrow by the Municipality of Geneva.

Mr. MacDonald will arrive in Paris en route to Geneva at 7 o'clock this evening. He will be greeted by M. Daladier, the Minister for the Colonies, who is temporarily in charge of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs.

FRENCH NAVAL FORCE LANDED TO AID POLICE

Bluejackets Will Be Held In Reserve At Frenchtown Stations

Following information that fighting had begun yesterday morning, bluejackets from the French cruisers Colmar and Jules Ferry were landed and placed at strategic points through the French concession.

The landing detachments were not put on guard duty but merely held in reserve in case an emergency should arise. They were quartered in police stations, schools and other public buildings. Motor truck transport was provided for them so that it would be rapidly dispatched to any desired point.

The volunteer corps of the French Concession was not called out, but members held themselves in readiness for prompt answer to any summons. They are also provided with motor transport, including two armored cars.

A cordon of police around the boundaries of the concession was strengthened during the day. Extra numbers of police have been on duty for several nights in both foreign settlements.

The American naval forces for the protection of Shanghai were all in port yesterday, the fleet including ten destroyers and several other vessels of the Yangtsze Patrol. Admiral McVey is in command. His landing parties will be the stronger for the addition of a number of marines not usually carried on the destroyers but sent here for the present crisis.

'Whites' Here May Form 'Ever-Victorious Army'

The possibility that the present conflict between Kiangsu and Chekiang may see the employment of another "Ever-Victorious Army" was seen yesterday in reports that the 600 Russian "White" troops, interned aboard the Russian Volunteer Fleet here, had offered their services as mercenaries to the heighest bidder.

No confirmation could be obtained for the report, nor was there anything to indicate the possibility of its acceptance.

The 600 men are all trained soldiers, and it is reported that they are well supplied with rifles and machine guns which they have aboard their ships. It is said that they have asked for $30 a month pay per man and twenty-two cents daily for rations.

The "White Guard" forces came here two years ago in the general evacuation from Vladivostok and have been under supervision of the local Bureau of Foreign Affairs since.

PETER B. KYNE

Peter B. Kyne, American novelist, short-story writer and newspaperman has written his impressions of Shanghai and of China after two weeks experience as a speaker at numerous dinners, banquets and other festivities in Shanghai since his arrival, not to mention one trip to the war front at Henli. Mr. Kyne's story in his own best style will appear to the extent of a few columns in next Sunday's CHINA PRESS. Mr. Kyne says that he started toward Shanghai exactly twenty-five years ago but several things intervened among them being a lack of sufficient funds for a ticket and so on,—but you will have order a copy of the Sunday CHINA PRESS and enjoy his experiences and impressions with us.

CHAMBER ASKS NEUTRAL ZONE NEAR SHANGHAI

Rival Military Leaders Are Urged To Keep Beyond 15-Mile Limit

An appeal for a neutral zone within a radius of fifteen miles of the International Settlement has been sent out by the General Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai in telegrams addressed to various officials at Peking and the leaders of the opposing Kiangsu and Chekiang forces.

The messages, dispatched yesterday, were sent to the Kiangsu (cabinet) Peking, the Ministry of War, Peking, the Ministry of Finance, Peking, Tuchun Chi Hsieh-yuan, Nanking, Tupan Lu Yung-hsiang, Hangchow, and General Ho Feng-lin, defense Commissioner for Sungkiang and Shanghai.

They read:

"Although belligerent measures have been taken in Kiangsu and Chekiang for the short period of ten days, the exodus caused by war rumors has inflicted horrible sufferings on the people. Reports to hand indicate that the contending armies are drawing near to striking distance, and if unfortunately the conflict becomes unavoidable, it is most important that a war zone should be defined so that within an area of fifteen miles outside the boundaries of the commercial center of Shanghai, no fighting of any kind will take place. You are requested to issue strict orders to the forces at the front to respect the limits of the war zone.

"Attention is drawn to the fact that in the year 1913 the view was expressed by the Consular Body that fighting should be forbidden within 15 miles of Shanghai. The evident reason for this lies in the importance of Sungkiang and Shanghai as the premier commercial center of the country, with assets of Chinese and foreigners amounting to incalculable millions of dollars. The existing population of several millions is increased by the influx of refugees, and should the war clouds be allowed to gather here, not only will the refugees have sought in vain for refuge in our midst but the losses caused by the war will be formidable. Such an eventuality will mean the ruthless jeopardising of the best cultural elements of China. Moreover, the question of diplomatic complications will also arise. We implore that the military movements be kept within bounds for if our petition is deliberately ignored and our patience exhausted, the authorities will be held strictly accountable for the indemnification of the ruinous losses and unwarranted sacrifices, failing which the people will resort to special measures for indemnifying themselves by means of the proceeds of the customs surplus.

Chekiang's Heavy Counter-Attack Claims Gain Of 15 Li Beyond Original Line

BY TALBOT PATRICK

Nanzing, Sept. 3, 7:45 p.m.—Skirmishers of the Kiangsu army opened hostilities against the Chekiang forces by an advance along and on either side of the Shanghai-Nanking railroad line yesterday morning.

By nightfall a heavy counter-attack had been delivered so effectively by the troops of General Lu Yung-hsiang that they claimed a gain of about fifteen li beyond their line of that morning, the infliction of losses on the Nanking troops of ten men to their one and the destruction of a number of field pieces.

The fighting began on a line which extended just beyond Huangtu on the railroad line and about twenty li on either side. The right wing of the Chekiang forces engaged lay just west of Kiating and the line south of the track ran west somewhat in the general direction of Chingpu.

The Nanking skirmishers advanced with a silence so notable that it was commented upon in reports. One of these skirmishers is declared to have fired the first shot of the war at about ten minutes after 10 o'clock in the morning. The sound of firing spread down both lines after that like the explosions running down a line of fire crackers.

To the irregular sound of the rifle fire was soon added the intermittent rat-tat-tat-tat of machine guns emplaced along the Chekiang front. After a time field guns of both sides opened up.

The firing lines remained comparatively stationary for a number of hours after the battle began, the riflemen stuck to what cover they could find in the crops and in small waterways and made no attempt to close in on each other. The machine guns ripped their swaths of bullets out at intervals while an artillery duel developed between the pieces on the two sides.

Meanwhile, train after train loaded with troops was rushed toward the scene of battle from the points about Shanghai where men were still available. The men were detrained at Huangtu as fast as trains could be sent up and empties passed down on the various sidings. By the latter part of the afternoon the re-enforcements had been deployed to strengthen the troops engaged.

Then the push began. During the earlier hours of battle, the Chekiang leaders report, their artillery fire had knocked out nine of the enemy guns while only one of their own had been put out of commission. Having gained a supremacy of fire, the gunners were able to support their infantry as the men began to advance. Machine guns were pushed forward on hand carriers, two to a gun, and assembled on the firing line as the new line became stationary.

When darkness came the southerners had taken a bite of territory roughly resembling a parallelogram, about fifteen li along the railroad track between the north and south lines. The new line ran practically due south from just west of Anting on the railroad to a point about ten li north and a trifle east of Chingpu.

This line crooked eastward a little north of the railway until it joined the old line northwest of Kiating. General forecasts by Chekiang officers were that instead of attempting to consolidate the new line and hold it more than overnight there would be a further push forward by their troops in the morning. The main body engaged on their side, the 39th Regiment of the 20th Brigade, was reported to be in fine fettle.

The Nanking troops engaged were reported to be the 6th Division, the 1st division of the Nanking Command-in-Chief. The losses of this division were estimated from the [illegible] ground taken in last [illegible] to be 400 dead. The loss in wounded was not estimated. The Chekiang dead were said to number between 40 and 50. The wounded of the latter side were taken to the Red Cross station at Huangtu.

Going to the front from Shanghai, no troops were in evidence after the station guards at the North station until the train pulled into Nansiang. Trains going to the front were a mixture of freight and passenger cars or entirely composed of freight cars. Not only troops were being sent to the lines, but additional am-

ARMED ROBBERS STEAL $987 IN RAID ON HOUSE

Chinese Home In West Hongkew District Is Invaded By Bandits

According to a report filed with police of the West Hongkew station, five men, four of whom were armed with automatic pistols and one with a revolver, raided a Chinese dwelling at 172 Boundary Road on Tuesday and escaped with $987 in jewellery and cash.

The men entered the house by a back door which had been left open but a short time. Two of the robbers herded the six women and one man who were in the house at the time into a room on the ground floor, while the other three ransacked the premises.

All of the men then dashed out of the back door and escaped. It was not until fifteen minutes later that the police were notified.

ARMS CACHE IS UNCOVERED IN BARREL MOUND

Japanese Woman Is Given Another Sentence In Consular Court

An arms cache, buried in an earth-covered mound which was supported by a number of wooden barrels, was uncovered by a raiding party from Wayside Police Station headed by Detective Sub-Inspector MacDermott and including Japanese Detective Constable Nakamura and a Japanese consular officer at a house at 336 Muirhead Road.

The mound was located in the compound in the rear of the house. In the barrels, the police party found two Mauser pistols, 77 rounds of rifle ammunition, one .32 calibre automatic pistol and 934 rounds of Mauser ammunition, one .25 calibre Mauser and 1047 rounds of .25 calibre ammunition, nineteen Mauser pistol cases, eleven spare magazines, and a quantity of pistol ports.

A strange feature in connection with the raid is the fact that the lessee of the premises, a woman named Y. Masumoto, was already serving a term of 29 days' imprisonment imposed by the Japanese Consular Court on a charge of arms smuggling. Following the raid, she was brought up again in the Consular Court on the new charge and sentenced to an additional 29 days' term.

S. Washima, a former seaman, who lives at 1342 Baikal Road and who had been seen to leave the house at 336 Muirhead Road earlier in the day, was also taken into custody, but he was dismissed after being cautioned in the Consular Court.

CANTON PLANS EXPEDITION TO HELP CHEKIANG

Nation-Wide Uprising Against Chihli Faction May Come, Is View

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, September 3.—Interviewed today by a representative of the Eastern News Agency, General Li Lieh-chun, chief of General Staff of the Headquarters of the Canton Government, referring to the situation existing between Chekiang and Kiangsu, stated in part:—

"The opening of hostilities between the Chekiang and Kiangsu troops will possibly lead to serious disturbances throughout the country. Though the military authorities here are attaching much importance to the situation, they feel convinced that if Chekiang should act all anti-Chihli factions will rise in arms against Chihli and come out victorious after all. The Canton Government has already decided to send expeditionary forces against the North, and Dr. Sun declares that he will in person stand at the head of the forces."

Canton, August 29.—The first battalion of the Canton Labor Corps, known in Canton as the Red Army, was formally organised on the afternoon of August 26 under the auspices of the Kuomintang political Party. Mr. Sze Bok, a labor union leader, has been elected commanding officer with Mr. Lau Kung-soo and Mr. Soo Fei-chen as his lieutenants. The quarters of these men, now numbering nearly 300, will soon [illegible] residence of [illegible] Kan Kung-chan, the second in command of the Kwangtung Province Merchants Volunteers Corps, whom Dr. Sun Yat-sen charges with treason, as a result of his protest against the arms seizure by the authorities. The residence of Mr. Chan has been confiscated by Dr. Sun.

In addition to the Labor Corps, the Red Army of the Kuomintang Party is also organising a farmer corps. There will be 20 battalions of farmers trained to fight for the Kuomintang cause. The 16th Battalion was inspected by the Civil Governor, Mr. Liao Chung-hoi, who is also chief of the labor division of the Kuomingtang, on August 27. The commander of the 16th Battalion is Mr. Choy Shing-chung, a former army officer.

Canton, August 29.—Three lives were lost on the afternoon of August 28 in Canton consequent upon the attempt of Dr. Sun Yat-sen to force his Central Bank paper money on the market.

Two members of the newly organised "Red Army," also known as the Canton Labor Corps, bought a catty of pork and demanded change in subsidiary coins from a butcher at Yau Lane Moon for a five dollar note. The butcher offered to give the pork to the "Reds" instead of changing the note, but the "Reds" declared that they had been instructed by Dr. Sun not to take anything from the people by force. In the dispute, one of the "Reds" attempted to shoot the butcher, who killed his would-be assassin first by chopping him on the head with his butcher's knife, whereupon the other "Red" shot the butcher, but before he could escape, he was seized and shot on the spot with his own revolver.

SHOTS EXCHANGED AT HUANGTU AND CHANGHSIN YESTERDAY; S.H.N.R. CUT

Chwang Tse-ping Moved Crack Troops To Front Yesterday At 2 p.m.; Shanghai's Vanguards Under Command Of Chu Shen-kwan Of 20th Brigade Fired Upon By Kiangsu's Rifle Volley And Responded With Heavy Gunfire, Precipitating The Much Discussed War

SIX WOUNDED ARE HERE FROM FRONT

The much-discussed war become a reality yesterday morning when shots were exchanged at 10:15 o'clock at Huangtu with the Kiangsu forces taking the offensive. In the afternoon at 6 o'clock, news was received here that fighting had also commenced in the western theater of war in Changhsin, where skirmishing between scouts was recorded.

Reports received at the local railway stations, which were later confirmed by the Lunghua authorities, indicate that mobilisation orders were given out by the Kiangsu headquarters at midnight Tuesday night and by seven o'clock yesterday, a regiment of Nanking forces, said to be under the command of Chu Hsi, made an encircling movement round Huangtu, using powerful searchlights to guide them in the early morning hours.

[illegible] was occupied by a Wousung battalion, belonging to Brigadier-General Chu Shengkwan's twentieth brigade. By 10 o'clock the Kiangsu troops were in position and the first volley of rifle shots was fired by the Kiangsu troops shortly after. To this, the Chekiang battalion responded with heavy gunfire. Eight shrapnel shells were fired while rifle shooting supplemented the encounter. The engagement continued for four hours by the end of which time the cannon fire ceased for a time.

General Chwang Tse-ping, whose movements from Fukien into Chekiang territory formed one of the causes of the present strife, left Shanghai with a portion of his best troops at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by a special army train. He joined with Chu in the battle when hostilities were resumed at 6 o'clock, the time set for the commencement of hostilities in Changhsin.

No fighting was reported from Liuho although hostilities here are also hourly expected.

Six soldiers who were seriously wounded in the initial engagement were shipped back to Woosung last night at midnight and were treated at the Military Base Hospital there. A few more are expected this morning from the front line.

By special request of General Ho Feng-lin, a special Red Cross Train was despatched to Nanzing last night at 8.30 o'clock to bring back the wounded to Shanghai in view of the fact the military hospital on the front was unable to handle them. The train was loaded with all necessary equipments and started for Nanziang under the personal direction of Dr. W. S. New. The wounded were treated with first aid and those who suffered severe wounds, six in number, were brought back.

Three more moving Red Cross units were sent yesterday by Dr. New to Woosung, Kiangwan and Chapei. The Commercial Press at the latter place will be used for the headquarters.

Motor communications were kept with the Liuho Red Cross unit through the courtesy of Lee Lee Garage, although there was no hostilities.

RECESS OBSERVED

Another recess was observed shortly after eight o'clock on the eastern front, it was reported last night. Chekiang was reported to have made slight gains.

Chekiang airplanes are assisting the land forces in the present combat, according to extras issued by the Chinese newspapers yesterday afternoon. The flying unit, 32 strong, is under the command of Major Tsu, son of Mr. Nicholas Tsu of Shanghai who bagged several German planes during the world war. A number of foreign pilots are participating on the Chekiang side.

Four Chinese newspapers here issued extras yesterday. They are the Eastern Times, the China

Appeal To Hongkong Bank To Refuse Loan On Bonds

The General Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai, who are straining every effort to limit the scope of the present hostilities, yesterday issued an appeal to the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation in connection with the reported mortgaging of the German bonds to the bank by the Chinese government to raise a loan of £1,000,000 for military appropriations. The Chamber strongly appealed to the bank not to conclude any such loan or to entertain any request for it, declaring that the reported loan would have the direct effect of prolonging the hostilities between the two provinces and increasing the misery of the people.

The letter was as follows:

"September 3, 1924.

"A. B. Lowson, Esquire,
"Manager,
"Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, Shanghai,
"Dear Sir:

"I have the honor to inform you that according to a report received from Peking, Wang Komin, Minister of Finance, is mortgaging the German Bonds to the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation for the purpose of obtaining a loan of £1,000,000 to pay for military appropriations.

"In view of the impending conflict and the belligerent measures taken in connection therewith, resulting in the severe losses which the people have already sustained, the loan abovementioned, if it materialises, will have the direct effect of prolonging the strife between the two provinces, thereby increasing the sufferings of the panic-stricken people.

"Bearing in mind the friendly relations existing between this Chamber and the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, we are writting this letter to your good self to inquire if the report as above stated is correct. Should it prove to be not unfounded, we shall feel highly indebted to you for the termination of all negotiations connected with this loan. On the other hand, if the report is not based on fact, your assurance that the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank will on no account entertain any request for a loan of this kind will ease the mind of the public, the opposition on the part of the people of Kiangsu and Chekiang to the reported loan under negotiation being firm and unanimous.

"Kindly let us have your esteemed illuminative reply at your earliest convenience so that this Chamber being thus enlightened may have with the least possible delay an accurate knowledge of the situation.

"Thanking you for giving this matter your early attention."

Fighting Commences In Two Theaters Of War

Times, the Shanghai Tribune and the Republican Daily News. While the news conveyed was similar, two of them reported that Chekiang got the best of the battle in the initial clash.

Military experts say that while both naval and air equipment might be used to advantage, the present war is essentially a land conflict. Chekiang's soldiery according to local claims, are more experienced, while the Kiangsu troops are said to be better equipped from the stand point of weapons of war. If Chekiang loses, the conflict will be short. If Kiangsu loses, it will be a drawn out battle as other Chihli militarists are morally bound to give a helping hand.

A Mukden telegram carried by the Dah Tong News Bureau stated that Major-General Lu Yao-tung, son of General Lu Yung-hsiang, has arrived in the Fengtien Capital and is now urging the Manchurian Warlord to send his troops south of the Great Wall.

The Kuo Wen News Agency was informed last night by special telegram from Dr. Sun Yat-sen that Dr. Sun was mobilising 50,000 men to carry out the much-delayed Northern Expedition. These forces would be drawn from the Cantonese troops under Generals Pak Li-wu, Chang Ming-ta, Chu Pei-teh, Ho Cheng-tsing and Hsu Chi, he said, and he also stated that he has sent Tseng Hung-nien, Canton Minister of Finance, to Mukden to cooperate with the Mukden leader.

CHAPEI WORRIED

Chapei suffered the first taste of war yesterday afternoon when shops closed their doors for more than an hour following a commotion created as a result of conscription of labor. Two thousand coolies were recruited and when the train conveying them to the front was departing from the Markham Road station, a huge crowd of other coolies was there to bid them farewell.

Troops of the second regiment of the Sixth Mixed Brigade ordered them to clear the line, but the order was ignored. Whereupon the soldiers threatened to fire. The coolies in retreating raised an outcry and someone scattered the rumor that routed forces were coming into the district. With a general bang the shutters and doors of every shop on Ta Tung, Hung Fen, Hsin Ming, and Wu sang Roads were closed. It was not until the Chapei Public Works had sent its informers to the busy thoroughfares to explain the situation that the shops resumed business.

The Chinese General Chamber of Commerce yesterday decided to send large quantities of corned beef, cigarettes and biscuits to the fighting front.

Chapei Public organisations will meet this morning at 10 o'clock to formulate plans for the organisation of a volunteer Corps. The plan will be submitted to the military authorities for approval.

It is understood that the French Volunteer Corps will be mobilised this morning at 8 o'clock.

The Shanghai North railway station was definitely closed to general passenger traffic yesterday afternoon and no one was permitted to enter the station without a military pass stamped at the yamen of General Ho at Lunghwa. The military force at the station was also increased during the day. At 5 o'clock one special train got away for the Hwangtu front with two freight cars packed with ammunition and another train was ready to start with one car of troops numbering about 100 and with several other cars ready to receive coolies which were being recruited in the streets in the neighborhood of the station.

Several officers belonging to General Ho's headquarters were busily engaged in rounding up coolies, which were being employed at the rate of $24 a month, partly paid in advance. The coolies as soon as they could be collected into groups were sent to the station platforms under guard and considerable confusion resulted when some of the coolies apparently changed their minds and tried to break away. The carload of troops were said to have been transferred direct to the station from General Ho's headquarters at Lunghwa.

Inside of the station the situation was distinctly war-like with large heaps of ammunition awaiting shipment to the front and with officers running about executing orders and directing the movements. No railway tickets for the Hangchow line were being sold after noon yesterday.

Peking, Aug. 31.—The latest reports received in Peking indicate that the ships and men sent down the river from Nanking are still in the vicinity of Chinkiang. According to a Chinese report the Chihli squadron is likely to be reinforced by the Foochow squadron.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Aug. 31.—General Sun Chuan-fang does not seem to be moving hurriedly and he has now telegraphed to the Government asking for funds. It is now considered likely that the Fukien troops will do more than make a demonstration on the Chekiang border with the object of drawing off part of the Chekiang troops.

Peking, Aug. 31.—The Chinese press reports that Dr. Wellington Koo will resign the Taili Premiership in the event of fighting between Kiangsu and Chekiang, as Dr. Koo is strongly opposed to civil war. The Chinese papers add that Dr. Koo has drafted and will submit to the meeting of the Cabinet on Tuesday next, a plan for the protection of foreigners and foreign property in Kiangsu in the event of war.

The United States Government, however, would be disposed to consider favorably participation in an appropriate international conference to negotiate and conclude a convention.

Shanghai Taxicabs Pressed Into Service By Fleeing Refugees

A shortage of taxicabs was felt in the settlement all day yesterday as the result of the demand for them on the part of Chinese fleeing from the outlying districts into Shanghai.

All day long the hire cars were to be seen loaded with the refugees and their baggage who were rushing from the danger zones to seek safety within the settlement.

Trips were made by some of the cars as far out as Liu Ho, a distance of about 28 miles, although most of the demand for their services came from the vicinity of Loongwha, Ziccawei, Nanyang College and Jessfield Station.

One of the cars belonging to the Ford Hire Service was held up and detained by soldiers at Loongwha as it was returning, with a load of refugees, to Shanghai. The car was released in a few hours when an appeal was made to the local office of the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs. However, the Ford Hire Service refused to allow any more of their cars to go into Chinese territory as a result of the seizure. It was reported that two cars of another garage were held up and have not been released. It was said that the soldiers allowed the cars to pass on the way out but when they attempted to return they were seized with the idea of pressing them into the service of the military.

Japan Officials Lose Rail Passes

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 3.—The Railway Department has carried out the abolition of 3,500 regular passes and 360,000 temporary passes, thereby saving the total sum of about Y5,000,000 per year. Among those who have forfeited special privilege to travel by rail free of charge are the Cabinet Ministers, Privy Councillors, M. P.'s of both House, railway officials, and big consignors.

PROTEST PACT ON GOLD FRANC QUESTION NOW

General Chamber Here Opposes Move For Settlement Of Dispute

A telegram dispatched last night by the General Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai to the Cabinet at Peking protests against taking further steps at this time toward settlement of the gold franc issue pending between Peking and France. The message reads:

"Referring to the case of the French Government's request for the payment of the Boxer Indemnity in gold francs, and the non-compliance on the part of the Chinese Government with this request in consequence of the outburst of popular opposition, we find that although a year has gone by without the controversy being settled, the authorities in Peking are now reported to have abandoned their vacillating attitude and to have suddenly decided to accede to the request in question on the understanding that the payment of the French Boxer Indemnity will be postponed for a period of two years.

"While this will afford some relief to the financial tension in Peking, the burden of the people will thereby be exceedingly increased. The present critical moment is most inopportune for taking further steps in this matter, and if the reported decision is correct, it will be repudiated by the people. Having telegraphically registered a protest with the French Legation Minister, we hereby urge you to proceed cautiously."

Sores from Wrist to Elbow
"Completely Healed"
Our portrait is of Mr. John Kidd, of 17, Mill Lane, Kilmarnock, Scotland, who writes:—"My right arm became covered with sores from wrist to elbow and was useless for over two years. I tried different ointments and so-called cures, but they never did me any good. Then I tried your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and the sores soon began to heal up and power began to come back to my arm, so I persevered with the Mixture, and after having four bottles am glad to say my arm is completely healed up and I have now the full use of it." In a further letter over a twelvemonth later Mr. Kidd writes: "I have had no return of my complaint; my arm is still as sound as a bell and never troubles me in the least."

munition which had been held in reserve to replace that first expended on the section where hostilities should open.

Curious crowds watched the trains pass at every little settlement, while a steady stream of people following the railway line to refuge in Shanghai rolled off the embankment before the engines and struggled back upon again after the passage of the cars. Backs and wheelbarrows were loaded with the goods of the refugees.

Railway employes were at their regular work along the lines and at Chenju the regular force of three railway police boredly watched the few students now at Chinan college tossing a basketball in a nearby field.

Nansiang was a sudden change of scene after the rural peace of the line this side of it. Soldiers were scattered about in the fields around the station and more sprawled on heaps of gear on the station platform. Sentries paced to and fro or stood guard at this or that post in a business-like manner.

On a siding were cars from which ammunition and supplies were being issued. Other cars lay still until a call should come to send forward the men stretching on the grass alongside them. In the end of one car was the headquarters of a company or battalion.

Railroad employes scurried about under the supervision of the officer in command of the station in voluble attempts to keep the traffic going fast and heavy on their section of single track line with its short lengths of pre- ous siding.

The waiting soldiers seemed almost immobile by comparison. hat shallow pans, more than feet in diameter across the and with sides rounding to point of the bottom were suped on three iron pegs driven the ground. Under each was ch dug with an opening to rd for air to fan the fires Asse hot chow. Perhaps one day Mac man in the group stretched about each pan moved now and then to add fresh wood to the fire.

It was noticeable that wood rations of faggots were served out and that the soldiers didn't have to rustle for kindling.

In evidence on the station platform, where they were within a cordon of sentries, and in cars standing ready to be sent forward when more important loads had been gotten out of the way were scores, if not hundreds of men in ordinary coolie clothes. These were new recruits to the army service corps, so to speak, laborers in the service of supplies. Statements that they were being paid for their work, but that force had been used to recruit them in and about Shanghai were made unofficially by several persons within the station precincts sacred to military rule.

Platform coolies had had one significant consignment to handle late in the afternoon—three $50 coffins filled only a short time before. The bodies were those of slightly more prominent soldiers of the Chekiang side, it was said by railway employes. Whether Nansiang was to be the last stopping place of the three or whether they were to be forwarded at leisure could not be learned by the correspondent.

At the time of writing railroad traffic still goes only as far as Huangtu. The number of trains going forward dropped down after dark and it was thought that several carloads of ammunition and some coolies to go up about 9 o'clock would clear the line until early morning. No more trains are expected down from Huangtu tonight, though nothing can be said positively about train movements when military necessity rules. All trains from Shanghai to Huangtu run after dark with dimmed engine headlights and with no lights on in passenger carriages. A noise generally thought to be an airplane was heard near the Shanghai end of the line, but it may have been a spare engine, in the opinion of your correspondent.

nton, September 3.—The of the critical relations be- the Kiangsu and Chekiang ce has considerably agitated e public here.

For some time past, Dr. Sun at-sen has been holding military onclaves with representatives of Chekiang and Fengtien, with the consequence, it reported, that it has been decided to carry out the expedition against the North. To that end, the defence troops stationed in the district of the East River are to be reduced to the minimum and a combined army is to be organised with some 20,000 troops under the command of Generals Chu Pei-teh, Li Ming-yang, and Ban Chung-shiu as its main force and the whole of the Hunan troops as well as a portion of the Yunnan and Kuangtung troops as its detachment.

This combined army is to be concentrated in the region to the east of Shaokwan with a view to advancing towards Kiukiang. It is reported that Dr. Sun has already given orders to the troops to mobilise. It appears, however, that Dr. Sun is finding it very difficult to raise military funds necessary for the despatch of the expeditionary forces against the North, and the mission of Mr. Cheng-Hung-nien is, it is reported, to confer with General Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang in this respect.

SERB ARRESTED FOR DEALING IN FIREARMS HERE

Three Pistols Taken From Foreigner; Refers To Italian Consul

Bozo A. Stanoyevich, Serbian, was taken into custody on Tuesday in Room 139, Great Eastern Hotel, by Detective Sergeant Tinkler, Police Constable Tabrum and Chinese detectives from Louza Station on a charge of trafficking in arms.

Three automatic pistols, two of them 7.65 Dantons and the other a 1.32 calibre Mauser, were found by the raiding party in the hotel room.

Following Stanoyevich's arrest, the police visited his home at No. 8 Yuhang Road, but were unable to find any more arms.

The Serbian, who gave his occupation as second-hand dealer, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday before Mr. Jacobs, American Assessor, and Magistrate Lou. Evidence was given by the police officers.

The accused man referred to the Italian consular authorities, to whom he said he was responsible, and was remanded in custody for one week to give him an opportunity to have the Italian Consul-General claim interest in the case.

Baptist College Is Unaffected By Outbreak Of War

Shanghai Baptist College does not seem to be affected by the war rumors and was open on Tuesday and, Wednesday for entrance examinations which were taken by 90 percent of those students previously registered. The Administration has provided dormitory accommodations for those students who have left their homes earlier than they would have ordinarily, in anticipation of hostilities and consequent suspended communications.

President and Mrs. F. J. White will arrive in Shanghai from America on the 9th after a year's furlough in America.

Classes will commence at 10 a.m. September 11, enrollment of old students and successful candidates in the examinations taking place on September 8 and 10.

According to the Rev. J. A. Silsby, head of the Lowrie Institute a school for Chinese at South Gate in the outskirts of Shanghai, it is the intention of the faculty to open the school for enrollment today and for the general beginning of classes on September 8. The school has an annual enrollment of about 400. The Mary Farnham School which accommodates about 300 Chinese girls, located in the same district has been closed for the present.

Both of them got hold of the animal by its antlers, but not before it had damaged Mr. De Moubray's left arm. Miss Layard, Mr. De Moubray's sister-in-law, then came out and was attacked by the stag. She was removed to hospital and underwent a successful operation. Six of the herd have been captured, but the seventh is still at large.

The Chinese press states that, with a view to allaying the financial panic in Hankow, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation has promised a loan of $400,000 to the native banks while the big Chinese banks have agreed to lend $1,000,00. This sum, however, is said to be insufficient to tide over the Mid-Autumn Festival, and consequently the native banks have applied to Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan to come to their aid. The plan they suggest is that the Tuchun should permit the large supplies of copper at present in the Wuchang Mint to be offered as security against a loan of $1,600,000 to be sought from the Banque Belge Pour l'Etranger. All the native banks will put their signatures to the guarantee if Tuchun Hsiao will accede to their request.

MARSHAL CHANG URGES TSAO TO CHECK NANKING

Struggle Between Fengtien And Chihli Is Held To Be Likely

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Sept. 3.—Marshal Chang Tso-lin has wired to President Tsao Kun, requesting the latter to devise means to stop fighting between Kiangsu and Chekiang. In this connection, the "Tung Feng Ji Pao" writes as follows:

"The re-opening of hostilities between the Fengtien and Chihli factions cannot be avoided, if President Tsao should, in compliance with the request of Marshal Wu Pei-fu, continue to supply General Chi Hsieh-yuan of Kiangsu with arms and ammunition and allow Kiangsu, Anhui, Kiangsi, and Fukien to cooperate in their joint attack upon Chekiang.

"Should the rumor that Marshal Wu Pei-fu contemplates removing before long his headquarters to Kuofang, a point between Peking and Tientsin, prove to be true, such an action on the part of Marshal Wu tends to accelerate the reopening of hostilities between Fengtien and Chihli.

"Nevertheless, hostilities can be avoided so long as President Tsao Kun maintains his neutral attitude in conformity with the views expressed by General Feng Yu-hsiang and General Wang Chen-pin. It is President Tsao Kun's utmost responsibility to maintain peace and order by fully exercising his authority. Whether or not the general situation can be settled entirely depends upon the ability of President Tsao Kun."

MacDonald Plans Action In Sudan

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 2.—Interviewed by the Daily Press correspondent at Paris, Mr. Macdonald declared that Zaghlul Pasha had ignored his last invitation to come to London. Meanwhile, the Premier said, he was convinced that the recent disturbances in the Sudan had been engineered by members of the Egyptian Government, and added that, in spite of his original intention to maintain the status quo in the pending discussions, he would be obliged to strengthen and determine the British position in the Sudan.

Plane Seen Over Western District Going To Lunghwa

The passing of an airplane over the Western or residence district of Shanghai yesterday afternoon going in the direction of the arsenal at Lunghwa aroused considerable speculation among Shanghai residents last night regarding the possibilities of this phase of the war between Kiangsu and Chekiang.

General Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang Province is said to possess a fleet of thirty-two planes of a modern French type while General Chi Shih-yuan at Nanking is said to possess somewhere in the neighborhood of a half dozen.

The local air-force at the Shanghai arsenal is under the command of Captain Tsu, a son of Nicholas Tsu prominent Chinese merchant and former head of the Nicholas Tsu Iron Works. Capt. Tsu served during the European War with the French air force and is said to have nine German planes to his record. He is reported to be using Russian and other foreign pilots for reconnoitering purposes in the present fight.

SPLENDID FIGHT CARD AT CARLTON CAFE TONIGHT

Garcia Meets Gonzalo And Vic Bell Tackles Nevsky

Another splendid program is on at the Carlton tonight, when Leonardo Garcia will meet Young Gonzalo in the main event and Nevsky the Russian terror will meet Vic Bell of the British cruiser Durban in a special event.

Both fights should be top-notchers. Garcia and Gonzalo are very well matched, and it will be remembered went twelve rounds to a draw two weeks ago in a fast and lively fight in which Leonardo undoubtedly outboxed the other boy, though Gonzalo landed a number of stiff punches which saved him from losing out on points. Young Gonzalo has a wicked punch, but Garcia is capable of standing up to a lot of punishment, as he showed in their last fight, and a kayo is hardly likely. If Gonzalo doesn't win by this route, however, it will probably be Garcia's fight, as Leonardo will try to see to it that the margin will be so big that there is no question as to the winner. It's sure to be a splendid scrap.

What's going to happen in the special match depends largely on Vic Bell. If the sailor boy is all he is cracked up to be this fight should be a hummer, as Nevsky is in fine condition, and is aching for a bout which will give him the chance to go ahead again after his set-back at the hands of Kid Mystery, a defeat which was purely due to the Russian lad's failure to take advantage of his opportunities. The boy is learning boxing rapidly, however, and he is sure to go ahead in the game once he gets more practice and understanding of it. He is also a slugger. Vic Bell, his opponent for tonight, is said to pack a nasty punch also, and the signs seem to point to a splendid fight between these two welters. The fight will go eight rounds, if neither has to be carried out in the meantime.

The first two fights, between the little fellows, are also very interesting this week. The second event, between Felipe Flores and Benny Forral, should be a slugging match with plenty of fast work included. These boys have met before. Flores got the decision in their last match, though in a previous fight the two went eight lively rounds to a draw. They are booked for six rounds tonight, and it looks like a tempestuous six innings.

Little Garcia, the newcomer who is booked to fight Fernan in the first event, is said to show very good form, and a style reminding one of Leonardo's. If the resemblance in style is recognisable to the naked eye the youngster should make the first bout an excellent exhibition tonight. It will be remembered that Fernan got the decision over Ma Ching last week here.

A big house is expected for this excellent card.

WINNER OF TICKETS

Last week's guessing competition on the boxing program was won by Mr. Zylstra, Nanking and Kiangse Roads. This entitles the winner to two complimentary seats at tonight's affair.

The notice issued by the Association is as follows:

"Owing to the loss of time caused by rain, it has been decided to play off the First Round of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Doubles Championship as soon as possible, upon any courts players may decide upon.

"The second and subsequent rounds will be played at the Majestic Hotel, as announced.

"The First Round must be completed by Saturday, September 6, all results to be sent at once to Mr. M. B. Brown, Hon. Secretary of the Association, at 1 Museum Road (Telephone Central 942), or at 9 Medhurst Road (Telephone West 3487)."

Dotted Lines show where Rubber is cultivated

RUBBER PRODUCTS THAT ARE UNIFORMLY GOOD

A little over 15 years ago the United States Rubber Company started their own rubber plantations in Sumatra and the Malay Peninsula. They did this that they might always be certain of securing crude rubber unvarying in quality.

Today the United States Rubber Company owns 172 square miles of rubber plantations and 5,000,000 carefully selected rubber trees under the constant care and supervision of a corps of tree experts.

Recently this company announced two revolutionary advances in the art of rubber manufacture: The New Sprayed Rubber and The New Web Cord.

The first of these ensures your getting rubber articles made from the purest virgin rubber ever produced. A rubber with all its natural properties unimpaired by the addition of smoke residues and chemicals. The second advance means a cord tire of a quality even more consistent than ever before.

United States Rubber products always have been leaders in the rubber industry. Now—due to these two startling discoveries, you can be assured of rubber products that are more than ever uniformly good.

COURT BINDS OVER CHIT-SIGNER FOR TERM OF 2 YEARS

Two Garages Appear As Complainants In British Court

In the British Police Court yesterday morning, before Magistrate King, a nineteen-year-old boy appeared on charges of obtaining credit by fraud other than false pretences. The defendant, Trevor C. Watson, was bound over for two years to keep the peace.

There were two charges against the accused, one of obtaining credit unlawfully from the Taylor Garage on August 17, amount $24, and one of the same nature from the Star Garage (China Motors) on August 10, amount $22. Mr. Maitland, outlining the case for the prosecution, said that in the first case the accused had ordered a car, giving a name of Phillips, and used it from 12.10 a.m. until 6 a.m., contracting a debt of $24, signing his chit H. Pauline. He had signed a false name because Mr. Leach, of the Taylor Garage, had already told him that he was not to have any more credit there. In the second case the accused had signed T. Watson, and given his address as 136 Szechuen Road.

A chauffeur from the Taylor Garage gave evidence of having driven the accused for six hours on the night in question, from the Parisien Hotel to the Del Monte and from there to the Rubicon, finally taking his passenger's wife to Ward Road and leaving the defendant at Chapoo and Seward Roads, where he signed the chit, and into a ricsha, and went away.

The defendant here explained that the name he had given, Phillips, was his real name, Watson not being his own name.

Mr. Leach of the Taylor Garage, on the stand, testified that the defendant had on two occasions gotten credit from him, in June. He had known him as Watson, not as Phillips. The June chits amounted to $46, which he had sent to the defendant's father, who denied all knowledge of them. Complainant had told young Watson that if he ever tried to get credit from him again he would put the matter in the hands of the Police. He could not get credit otherwise than by giving a false name. After complainant had made the present charge defendant had called him up on the telephone and offered to pay the chit if he would withdraw the complaint.

Defendant in Court repeated the offer to settle.

STAR GARAGE CASE

A Star Garage chauffeur, put on the stand, testified to having picked up the defendant at 2:40 p.m. on August 10 on Route Vallon, having gone in response to a telephone call. He drove to Range Road and took on two more passengers, then went down to Woosung and thence to Paoshan, returning at about eight o'clock. Defendant had left the car at the corner of Nanking and Kiangse Roads.

Mr. William C. Henderson, secretary of the China Motors, testified to the car having been sent. They had tried to get payment from the address given, 136 Szechuen Road, but the shroff found no one there.

The defendant said that the address he gave was his correct address at the time, his family living there. They had since removed, and if the shroff had inquired of the lift man at the place he could have gotten their new address.

Mr. Alexis de Sheimo testified to having gone to Woosung with the defendant on August 10 in the hired car.

A Star Garage shroff, put on the stand, testified to having gone to Route Vallon and to Szechuen Road to find the defendant, but had failed to locate him or find where he lived. There was no one living at the Szechuen Road house.

Detective-Sergeant Forkin testified to having served the summons on the defendant, who had made no statement. The officer had been to 136 Szechuen Road. There was a lift man there, and the defendant's mother and sister had lived there.

The defendant said that when he signed the chit he was intending to remove to his mother's home on Szechuen Road. If the shroff had inquired there he could have gotten their new address. He was now living with his mother. He was not responsible for not having paid the chit, as it had never been presented to him for payment.

FOUND GUILTY

The Court, addressing the defendant, asked him what he had to offer in explanation of his actions. It was for him to show that when he got credit from the Taylor Garage he got it honestly. Unless the defendant had a very good explanation of these transactions the Court would have to find him guilty. If he did pay the accounts as he offered it would make a difference in the position, though the Court would make no bargain. The case would be adjourned until 2:30 p.m., and if the defendant failed to turn up a warrant would be issued for his arrest.

In the afternoon, when the defendant reappeared in Court, he said he had not yet paid the chits, not having understood that the Court required this. He was quite prepared to pay them.

Asked about his two names, he explained that his own name was Phillips, but that the name of Watson was that of his stepfather.

Mr. Maitland said nothing was known against the defendant, though he was said to owe very much money in Shanghai.

The Magistrate said to the defendant, in passing judgment, that he had qualified for jail and ought to go there. It might sound brutal, but what a boy like him needed was a good birching. It was easy to get credit from a garage, and the defendant had used this to swindle. He was only a boy of nineteen, however, and the Magistrate did not want to break a young man's life by sending him to jail. He would, therefore, bind him over for two years, and advised him to change his ways.

Killings Charged Against Chinese In Mixed Court

Four men appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on homicide charges. The four accused, Pei Miau-sz, Tsang Sian Mau-den, Dzau Ah-sai, and Wong Tuh-sing, are charged, together with another man now in the hands of the French Police, with having shot Tsiang Ching-fah at 117 Manila Road on June 9, and Dzau Ah-kung at the same place. The first victim, Tsiang, was shot dead, but the second recovered.

The four defendants have been turned over to the Settlement authorities by the French Police. All of them are among the men who were given the death sentence Monday in the French Mixed Court for armed robbery and murder. The second man whom they are accused of shooting, Dzau Ah-kung, is also a prisoner convicted of armed robbery by the French Court and turned over to the Settlement police by them. He is said to have confessed to three murders and six armed robberies in the Settlement, and is now on trial for the robbing of a place on Tatung Road and the killing of a man there.

Dzau appeared in Court on Tuesday and was remanded until September 9 for further inquiries to be made. The Police yesterday asked the Court, Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Loh presiding, to remand the case of these four accused until the same date. The Court so ordered.

Workers' Charter Adopted By Trade Union Congress

Remarkable Scenes Staged When Russ Delegates Are Cheered

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 3.—The Trade Union Congress adopted the workers' charter, providing for the nationalisation of land, mines and railways, a forty-four hour working week, and a minimum wage in each industry, also adequate provision for unemployment, adequate housing, full educational facilities and pensions for all at the age of sixty.

There was a remarkable scene when the President of the Congress introduced the American, Canadian and Russian delegates. When the Russian delegates, headed by M. Tomsky, the Chairman of the All-Russian Council, came on the platform, the delegates rose and cheered for some minutes.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 3.—The Trade Union Congress rejected the recommendation of the General Purposes Committee in favour of allowing an emergency resolution to be submitted instructing the General Council to work for the convening of an international conference of all Trade Union organisations, and take steps to bring about unity in the international Trade Union movement, and bring the organised workers of the world under international fighting leadership.

The President said that if the resolution were accepted, it would probably do less than already has been done. In certain respects the General Council has already agreed that the Amsterdam International should invite Russian Trade Union representatives to a conference for the purpose of endeavouring to remove existing difficulties.

(Reuter's Service)

London, September 2.—The Trade Union Congress at Hull today carried by an overwhelming majority an amendment to the Standing Orders, giving the General Council extended powers to intervene in strikes, lockouts or threatened disputes.

The mover said that federated capital was showing its hand more strongly every week. The battle in the industrial field was becoming fiercer. The workers wanted central leadership and control.

COURT CONFIRMS ORDER DEPORTING SEDITIOUS SIKH

First Re-Deportation Order In British Court Here

In the British Court here yesterday Judge Peter Grain confirmed the sentence of re-deportation handed down upon Mit Singh by Magistrate King in the Police Court last week. In the proceedings August 27 formal evidence was given of the deporting of the man eight years ago, and Captain Barrett identified the defendant as the one who had been returned to India as an undesirable character, he having been engaged, it appears, in seditious activities here.

Mit Singh returned to Shanghai in July this year, having received permission from the British authorities in Canton. He had no permit from the Secretary of State, however, which is necessary for a deported man desiring to return. Mr. A. G. Mossop, Acting Crown Advocate, stated last week in the Police Court that the authorities looked upon the case very seriously, but would not ask for imprisonment. Magistrate King, in sentencing the Sikh to re-deportation, said that he would have given him prison as well if the Crown Advocate had not asked for re-deportation only.

In the higher court yesterday, where the case went for confirmation by the Judge, Mr. A. G. Mossop appeared and went briefly over the affair. The Crown Advocate said it was the first case under the new order in council of re-deportation. Very likely there would be others. The authorities regarded these cases as very serious.

Mit Singh, the defendant, had said that when he came back to Shanghai he was only following in the footsteps of others who had been deported and then returned. There were two men, said Mr. Mossop, who had come back and been permitted to remain, but they had been deported under martial law, and had later been allowed to return to Shanghai and stay here. The case was not the same as that of the present defendant.

Mit Singh, asked if he had anything to say to the Court, expressed the wish to stay in Shanghai. He liked Shanghai, and wanted to remain here. The Judge said that he was better off in his native village, and advised him to go back there, confirming the re-deportation order.

Chronicles From The Courts

By "Chameleon"

Wong Kung-sung is an esthete. Beyond this, he is obviously a sybarite. Perhaps it isn't fair to call a man such names when he is in jail and incapable of defending himself, but it is a fact that he is wholly entitled to these labels.

Wong's over-refined olfactory sensitiveness makes him extremely particular as to the cigarettes he smokes. One would think that this sensitiveness might also interfere with his occupation along the water-front, but it doesn't seem to work that way. Furthermore, the fact remains that whereas Wong is careful about cigarettes he is extremely careless about money, which is why this story is being written. So particular about the finer aspects of his varied and eventful life, he is cold to the petty and sordid details of finance. But let the story tell itself.

Wong went to a shop on Tiendong Road Tuesday morning for some cigarettes, nonchalantly slamming a silver dollar on the counter in payment. He received the cigarettes, also his change. Pocketing the change, he opened the package of cigarettes and sniffed. He grimaced. He sniffed again. He grimaced a little more. Expressing his utter lack of desire to draw cabbage smoke into his delicate lungs, he handed the cigarettes back and demanded his money, fishing out six twenty-cent pieces from his pocket and giving them to the shopkeeper with a request for his good silver dollar. The shopkeeper was willing to accept the cigarettes back, but he, being a sordid and practical person who paid more attention to silver than to cigarettes, promptly banged the 20-cent pieces proffered him on the counter, which responded with a dull leaden chink which decided him against their acceptance, and furthermore induced him to holler for a policeman.

Wong decided at this point to make one last magnificent gesture, and scorning both cigarettes and change departed from the shop, but C.D.C. Koo Zien was promptly on the job and grabbed Wong, who appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday before Assessor Whitamore and Magistrate Li charged with passing counterfeit coins. Wong was sentenced to a month's imprisonment.

A WHEELBARROW EPIC

A Chinese wheelbarrow is rather an unwieldy object to slip in one's pocket and walk off with without the owner noticing it. As a result Li Ah-nyi is now in durance vile and the wheelbarrow is now being pushed about by its customary driver, Zau Ching-san, who incidentally has the reputation of possessing one of the most finely-timbred yodling voices on the streets of our fair city.

But we are starting at the end of the story—that is, the wrong end. The beginning was early Tuesday morning, when Li saw the wheelbarrow on Miller Road. It was a splendid barrow of the latest model, fully equipped with self-starter, emergency brakes, etc., and its graceful lines worked so powerfully on Li's imagination that he lusted for it, longed to drive it down the street in a long musical paean of victory, to the envy of ricsha-men and the worshipping eyes of ladies fair. Li slowly and surreptitiously approached the beautiful vehicle. No one approached. He touched the graceful handles. He picked them up. He had started down the road with the coveted vehicle before he heard a war-whoop behind him and saw Zau hot on his trail.

Zau, who has been mentioned as the customary chauffeur of the vehicle, was not far behind, but Li in spite of his handicap kept right in front of him, and there was a magnificent race down Boone Road which was not ended until C.P.C. 1477, recognising familiar sounds from the mysterious catapult which was whizzing down the road, breaking all speed laws past, present and future, jumped in and assisted Zau in stopping the cyclone.

Li was brought into the Mixed Court yesterday before Assessor Whitamore and Magistrate Li, and confessed to the theft of the barrow. He was sentenced to 21 days in jail.

What The Chinese Papers Are Saying

Peking, Sept. 2.—The Salt Inspectorate's report that both Kiangsu and Chekiang are seizing salt revenues for military use.—Shun Pao.

Peking, Sept. 2.—The Diplomatic Corps has lodged a protest with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs against the seizure by Kiangsu of foreign launches along the inland rivers contrary to treaty stipulations and reserved the right to file claims for damages.—Shun Pao.

Hongkong, Sept. 2.—Governor Liao Chung-kai has insisted on resigning his post. Dr. C. C. Wu is favored as his successor.—Shun Pao.

Peking, Sept. 2.—Although Dr. W. W. Yen is gradually winning the support of his opponents, he has declared that in view of the serious political situation, he would not assume the premiership even if he was elected.—Sin Wan Pao.

Peking, Sept. 2.—The Hangchow Mint, in reply to the Ministry of Finance, stated that it has stopped the manufacturing of ten-cent-pieces.—Sin Wan Pao.

Peking, Sept. 2.—The Ministry of Finance has today appointed Mr. Tsen Teh-kwang, son of General Tsen Chun-hsuan, as director of the Anhui Mint.—Sin Wan Pao.

Canton, Sept. 2.—The Central Committee of the Kuomingtang has instructed its members in Kiangsu and Chekiang to understand the nature of the coming struggle, which is not to be considered a mere conflict between General Lu Yung-hsiang and General Chi Hsieh-yuan but a campaign on the part of imperialists and traitors to realise their wily ambition. The committee calls upon every Kuomingtang man to join the cause and "suppress the proteges of the bogus government."—Republican Daily News.

Hangchow, Sept. 2.—It is officially learned that the Kiangsu troops were ordered last night to conduct a general attack against Chekiang by both wings. At 10 o'clock, the Kiangsu men in Quinsan scutinised their enemy with search lights to irritate the latter, who remained calm. This morning, the Kiangsu troops wrecked the railway and marched their scouts in the direction of Anting. Several volleys were fired. No definite firing news was received by the office of the Tupan, however, up to seven o'clock.—Republican Daily News.

Peking, Sept. 2.—The morning newspapers say that Tsao Kun has decided to hold Wu Pei-fu responsible for the defence of the Northeast, while Feng Yu-hsiang will maintain the peace and order of the Metropolitan Area. This is significant in view of the fact that Tsao is convinced that Mukden is on the move and he has to rely on Wu, Mukden's bitter enemy, to ward off the advances. It also shows that Feng Yu-hsiang is unable to cooperate with Wu.—Republican Daily News.

Peking, Sept. 2.—Marshal Wu Pei-fu has wired to Peking to say that he does not wish to take any initiative in the Kiangsu-Chekiang situation, which he wishes to leave to the discretion of Tsao Kun. It is understood that Chi Hsieh-yuan will appoint himself as commander-in-chief of the expedition and name Chen Tiao-yuan as his assistant.—Eastern Times.

Hongkong, Sept. 1.—The shops in Canton, with the exception of a few, resumed their business yesterday. The Honan troops in Taiping Road have been withdrawn and martial law has been called off. The launches to the neighboring towns also have resumed their services.—Eastern Times.

Peking, Sept. 2.—Dr. Paul Monroe of Columbia University who is now here, is planning the organisation of a Sino-American Board of Trustees, of which there will be ten Chinese and five American members—Shanghai Tribune.

Peking, Sept. 2.—On account of the opposition of the Diplomatic Corps, the Presidential Mandate ordering the declaration of martial law in Peking has been shelved.—Shanghai Tribune.

Peking, Sept. 2.—Tsao Kun gave a reception to the delegates of the Industrial Conference today, who were entertained later at San Hai.—Shanghai Tribune.

Peking, Sept. 2.—Tcheng Loh, Minister to Paris, reports that the French are organising an air mail service between Paris and Peking and half of the capital has already been subscribed by the government. Forty planes will be used and the route will take in Russia and Mongolia. The sanction of the Soviet government is being sought.—Shanghai Tribune.

Mukden, Sept. 2.—Marshal Chang Tso-lin addressed a letter to Ex-Premier Pao Kwei-ching on the 31st last month, in which he issued a warning for Tsao Kun against any hostile move on Chekiang. He said that Tsao should not dream of unification by force and should use the military expenses for the relief of the flood victims. If he allowed Chi Hsieh-yuan to oppress the people through his campaign against Chekiang, Chang said, he would be reluctantly compelled to mediate the squabble with armed forces.—Shanghai Tribune.

A HOT WEATHER TONIC
Needed by Many.

This is the time of year when many people who have no great reserve of strength, who have thin blood and weak nerves, need a tonic.

Everyone cannot have perfect health, but unless you have an organic disease it is generally possible to improve your physical condition.

When the blood lacks red corpuscles the body is under-nourished, you lose in weight, and as the nerves are starved you suffer from nervousness in one form or another. It is a scientific fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cause the red corpuscles to increase in number, they purify and enrich the blood, and this improvement in the blood after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is demonstrated by an increased appetite, a healthier brightness in the eyes and glow in the cheeks, a restoration of energy and spirits, and the feeling of renewed strength throughout the whole system.

Of all chemists Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the world-renowned Blood and Nerve Tonic, can also be had post free at $1.50 per bottle, $8.00 for 6 bottles, direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai. FREE: Our booklet "The Blood."

Wrangel Island Dispute Turned Over To Britain

(Reuter's American Service)

Ottawa, September 2.—The Canadian Government has advised the Colonial Office, in respect of the reported mission of the armed Soviet vessel "Red October" to Wrangel Island with a company of infantry, to take the island and seize the men left there last year by Mr. Harold Noice after his expedition to rescue the survivors of the Stefansson adventure, that it will leave any action to the British Government.

It is believed here that the right to possess the island will be finally adjudicated by the League of Nations.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

with

Betty Compson

A British Super-Production

A sublime love story of the ages—thrills the heart and its luxury fascinates the eye.

Mr. E. V. Lucas in a "Times" Film article said: "The film should exercise the finer emotions and awaken the deeper feelings." "Woman to Woman" realizes that ideal.

Correction and Apology

By The China Press

"The China Press makes a correction. In last Sunday's (August 17th) paper there appeared an advertisement of the Oculists' Institute Company, and at the top of the advertisement there was printed a line of type containing the letters, "NRPTZOE" The size of type in which this mystic word was printed should have been of a size suited for reading by normal eyes at a distance of 20 feet. Through a mistake of the advertising department the size of type used was larger than was intended. It should be read by normal eyes at approximately 70 feet. Test letters in eye examination are based upon a 20 foot arc which was invented by Snellen in 1865. In our reprint of the advertisement on last Friday (August 22nd) the orginal 20 foot Snellen type was used in the O. I. C. advertisement. We are glad to take this opportunity of apologising to the O. I. C. for the mistake in the ad and also to our subscribers who may have become confused by testing their eye-sight thereby."

From The China Press, August 24th.

Here is the correct size type for Testing the vision at 20 feet.

N R P T Z O E

How Well Can You See?

Stand Twenty Feet from this advertisement, pinned to a wall, level with your eyes.

You should be able to read the large black letters at the top with each eye separately.

Now, hold this fourteen inches away from the eyes in a natural reading position. You should read the type in the margin easily with either eye.

These lines in margin should appear equally black in all directions and at any distance with either or both eyes. If some lines appear blacker or of unequal density you have astigmatism—a malformation of the eyeball which can only be corrected by glasses ground to your individual requirements.

Do your Eyes Tire Easily? Do they water in the wind or sun? Do you "squint" in the sunlight?

There are many, who, with apparently normal vision, suffer with headaches and eye-strain caused by weak eye-muscles and both eyes not focusing together. Such muscular Imbalance can only be corrected by proper glasses.

Toric Lenses conform to the curve of rotation of the eyes, greatly widening the field of vision. They are theoretically more perfect than flat lenses besides being better looking. No matter what lenses you wear, your prescription can be ground in toric.

Many do not need glasses to See with, but only to Relieve the Strain of Seeing—the only safe and sure way is to

U.S. LOCOMOTIVE COMPANY ENJOYS COOD BUSINESS

Ever-Growing Demand For Electric Engines Is Latest Feature

New York, Aug. 8.—American Locomotive Company, despite the general slowing up in various lines of the equipment business, completed a satisfactory six months, and with normally the slowest period of the year behind, has on the books better than $19,000,000 of unfilled orders, an increase of about $1,250,000 since the close of 1923.

During the first six months the company earned the dividend requirements on both the 500,000 shares of common stock and the 250,000 shares of preferred, totaling $2,375,000 with an estimated amount of about $1,000,000 to spare.

An important item of American Locomotive's net income is income from investments. Of the net profit of 1923, amounting to $12,376,565, $1,324972 represented income from investments, interest on notes receivable and interest on bank deposits.

Working capital of American Locomotive Company at the beginning of the current year stood at $46,435,236, after including under current liabilities a reserve of $1,843,524 for income taxes and reserve of $1,632,384 to provide for shrinkage in value of notes receivable and possible losses in exchange. Working capital of the company is now estimated about $1,000,000 greater than at the close of 1923.

NOW ON UPGRADE

With present unfilled orders and business in prospect, it is not likely, now that the dull season in the industry is past, that operations will fall below the present rate of 45 percent of capacity. In fact, a gradual increase in production during the remainder of the year is expected.

Of the 1923 business, about 86 percent was received in the first half of the year. In the full year 1923, $58,180,042 of new business was received which, together with unfilled orders January 1, 1923, brought the total to $107,467,182, upon which plants could operate, but nearly $18,000,000 of this was carried forward into the current year.

The outlook for the remainder of the year is encouraging, although the railroads' equipment buying cannot be expected to approximate that of 1923, when there was a rush to provide necessary motive power for traffic pressure of 1924.

STRONGEST BALANCE SHEET

Of all industrial corporation reporting in 1923, the balance sheet of the American Locomotive Company was one of the strongest. Of the total working capital of $46,436,000 with which the company entered the current year, 50 percent was cash and marketable securities, which at reasonable interest would yield approximately the full 7 percent dividend on the outstanding $24,000,000 preferred issue.

With fair business this year, it is not difficult to account for the price of $80 a share for the present common stock upon which there was earned last year, after all taxes and charges, $21.25 a share.

Working capital at the beginning of this year amounted to about $93 a share for the total 500,000 shares of common stock. The company now has no bills payable, except current items, and was scheduled to pay off the $922,000 of the remaining bonds of the Montreal Locomotive Works, Ltd., March 1 of this year.

WORKING CAPITAL LARGE

The remarkable position in which the company entered this year is indicated in the following tabulation of capital at the close of the three previous years:

Of the total funded debt of American Locomotive there remains to be retired in the next five years less than $500,000 of bonds, which would mean interest charges of only about $25,000 a year.

Another favorable feature of the company is production of electric locomotives, for which there is increased demand resulting from electrification projects now being carried out by many of the larger roads.

Early last year American Locomotive made an agreement with the General Electric Company, indicating close co-operation between the two companies in design and manufacture of electric locomotives, with General Electric manufacturing the electrical equipment.

Australia Purchases Much U.S. Products

Australia, that island in the South Pacific, which most of us associate with kangaroos, boomerangs and wild men, has become one of America's best customers. Recent figures show that it stands eighth on the list of all countries to which America exports and that it is more important from the American exporter's point of view than such countries as China, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, the Philippines, Spain or the Netherlands.

The Australian market is particularly valuable to America's industrial community since it takes manufactured products of the variety in common use throughout the United States. This fact renders it unnecessary for the manufacturer to make a special type article for the Australian trade, or to give the market requirements particular study before entering it. During 1923 America sold far more automobiles to Australia than to any other foreign country. In addition, large quantities of machinery, fats and oils, textiles, rubber goods, tires, &c., were disposed of as well.

During the nine months ended March 31, 1924 America exported to Australia goods valued at $95,987,000, as compared with $68,892,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year. While this appears to be an extraordinary jump, it is regarded as an indication of what may be expected in the United States' future trade relations with that far land.

PLANTS MADE TO RRODUCE BIGGER CROPS

Scientist Has Two Blades Growing Where Only One Grew Before

Berlin, Aug. 9.—The Bulgarian Ambassador, Dr. Methodi Popoff, has carried out some important work on the stimulation of the living cell. If the cell is brought into contact with an agent having an amnity with oxygen, there is, as Dr. Popoff puts it, an acceleration of the "oxidisation" or breathing process. The result is a kind of rejuvenation that affects the cell during the whole period of its existence.

One of his early experiments was with the Slipper Animalcule (Paramoccium caudtatum), a one-celled organism, only just visible to the naked eye and found abundantly in stagnant water. He immersed a number of these creatures which he had bred from a common parent in a 15 to 20 percent solution of magnesium chloride for one to three minutes. After subjecting them to this "stimulation" he rinsed them and put them back into their normal surroundings.

The result was as follows:

By way of control Dr. Popoff had kept a number of unstimulated animals born of the same parent as those he had stimulated. A pair of the full-grown "controls" gave birth to 242 offspring. A pair that had been stimulated for one minute gave birth to 2027 offspring, and a pair that had been stimulated for two minutes to 846. The stimulated cultures contained animals that were not only more numerous, but also larger than the "control-cultures."

HEALING OF HUMAN WOUNDS

Dr. Popoff also experimented with the Hydra viridis, a small green animal, plainly visible to the naked eye and very common in ponds and ditches. He found that its injured tentacles were replaced much more vigorously when stimulated than when left to heal by themselves. During the war he served in the Bulgarian medical corps on the Macedonian front, and applied his methods of stimulation to human wounds. He had considerable success.

But the chief work of Dr. Popoff has been on the stimulation of seeds. He is experimenting on a large scale at Oranienburg, near Berlin. A number of his disciples and pupils are also applying his methods in Germany and Bulgaria.

Plots of land sown on his estate at Oranienburg with stimulated seeds (cereals, flax, cabbages, turnips, etc.), alternate with plots on which normal "control" crops are growing. The difference between the two is very marked. The stimulated plants are much bigger, stronger, and even greener than the "controls." They are also more numerous, showing that of the seeds that would normally fail to germinate some at least are saved by stimulation.

A DOUBLE COTTON CROP

Dr. Popoff's experiments are so far advanced that they can be applied practically on a large scale. The procedure is very simple. The seeds have to be soaked for a certain number of hours in a weak solution of one or more of the chemicals already mentioned. Many of these chemicals are very cheap, so that any farmer could benefit by Dr. Popuff's methods at a very small outlay and with little trouble.

Dr. Popoff has been able to increase the normal yield of wheat, barley, rye, maize, millet, vetches, turnips, rice, tobacco, etc., by 20, 30, 40 or even 50 percent and more. Tobacco seeds stimulated for two hours or five hours gave poor results, but those stimulated for three hours grew into plants abnormally big and strong that rapidly overtook unstimulated plants sown earlier. They were also very hardy and less liable to attack by cryptogamic diseases. The average increase in the yield was from 30 to 40 percent. In the hilly districts of Bulgaria it will now be possible to sow tobacco earlier and to harvest early, thus avoiding the harm done by late summer droughts and autumn storms.

Dr. Popoff's experiments with cotton have been continued by Draganoff at Charmanli in South Bulgaria, where there are big cotton plantations. Two decares (a decare is about one-quarter of an acre) were planted on March 5, 1923, the one with stimulated seeds and the other with "control" seeds. The former sprouted on April 10 and blossomed on June 27, having reached an average height of 1.5 meters; the latter sprouted on April 12 and blossomed on July 2, with an average height of only 90 centimeters. The stimulated plants were also of a deeper green, showing a greater richness in chlorophyll. The buds averaged 125 grammes in weight, as against 90 grammes in the "controls." Curiously enough it was the normal blossoms that ripened the more quickly, and there was little difference between the sizes of the individual seeds in each. But the fruit of the stimulated plants was larger and heavier. The net result was that the plot of stimulated plants yielded 123 kg. of raw cottin (including the seeds), while the "control" plot yielded only 55 kg. Thus Dr. Popoff succeeded in increasing the yield of ordinary cotton plants by more than 100 per cent.

What Other Parts Of China Think Of The War

THE dissolution of the Peking Parliament is one of the possible results of the present war between Kiangsu and Chekiang, in the opinion of the editor of the North China Standard, the Japanese paper in Peking, which also states the probability that the present occasion will offer an opportunity for solving the "gold franc controversy." Says the Standard; "It is believed to be practically certain that the Government will settle the Gold Franc case with the French as soon as hostilities commence in the Southeast. The Government has long been anxious for an early settlement of this Sino-French controversy but hitherto it has not dared to do so because of parliamentary and popular opposition. With the coming of war, the need for money will become more pressing, and as the settlement of the case will make available to the Government treasury at least $10,000,000 the temptation to settle the dispute with the French is too strong to be resisted. Parliament will be sure to raise opposition, and in order to overcome this, it has been suggested that the Government dissolve it pending the duration of the conflict."

The Daily Herald, American-Chinese paper at Hankow, thinks that when the conflict between Kiangsu and Chekiang breaks, the conflagration is bound to spread all over the country. "It is inconceivable that Civil War can break out between Kiangsu and Chekiang and leave China's other provinces undisturbed. Although he has denied that he will mobilise his troops until actual warfare commences, Marshal Chang Tso-lin has already offered assurances to General Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang. With this assistance at his disposal which is readily available to the port of Hangchow and thence by rail to Shanghai, it is small wonder that Loyang fears for the safety of Kiangsu. There is one chance in a thousand that war between these two provinces could be confined within their borders. Such a war at this time will mean nothing short of a total Civil War for China, in which even the most western province of Szechuen will be involved. Already reports have come in that ships running between Chungking and Ichang are being again heavily fired upon—that General Yang Sen has withdrawn his troops from Chungking—that alarm is felt throughout Szechuen. And if this Civil War, most horrible of all wars, comes, it will affect the most outlying province in the country. Therefore what hope is there that the many other provinces will escape? The present enmity between China's three great war-lords would not permit this. . . There is only one door of hope in the entire situation, and that is, that Marshal Chang Tso-lin may not see it to his best interests to come to the aid of Chekiang. Should he refrain and remain in his own territory, the threatened war, even though it materialises, will be of short duration. If he decides to become partisan in the affair, China will become involved in a civil war compared to which all her previous wars have been play."

The Far Eastern Times of Peking also speculates on what may happen if General Chang Tso-lin decides to get into the game. "If the war is to be merely a Kiangsu-Chekiang war, so much the better; but if the North is to be dragged in, the fighting will be on a very different scale from what it was in 1922. The Manchurian armies have been completely re-equipped, they have an overwhelming weight of artillery and of shell reserves, and with these they will break their way through. Everything points to the fact that Marshal Chang Tso-lin is averse from moving a man or a gun, and will only act under extreme provocation, as the development of Manchuria, on which he is bent more than anything else, would be seriously interrupted by any fresh struggle; but if things drift on as at present they are doing, with no effort at neutralisation or localisation or other mitigation, it will be difficult to remain optimistic or to refrain from expecting that China must, perhaps gradually rather than suddenly, embog herself in the bloody morass of war."

Another of the North-China papers, however, calls attention to the fact that Marshal Chang Tso-lin might be hampered in his intention to move southward against Peking because of the fact that 60,000 square miles of Chihli Province are now covered by floods which would make troop movements extremely difficult, if not impossible. For this reason the Daily Mail of Tientsin remarks; "The Province of Chihli is almost to be congratulated on being flooded since this is a partial defence against troop movements." General Chang could, of course, move southward along the railway, but this restricted roadway would be barred through the cutting of the road and defences of General Wu Pei-fu on the southern side of the Great Wall. The sea, of course, remains open for General Chang, provided he has the boats available for transport purposes, but the water roadway likewise is not uncontested, for it will be remembered that several months ago General Wu Pei-fu stationed a section of the Chinese fleet on the Shantung coast with headquarters at Tsingtao to meet this very contingency. Tsingtao and the officials of the Shantung railway have been raising an awful howl because they have been forced to support this fleet, but the value of the fleet in preventing General Chang from bringing troops southward from Manchuria by sea may now be seen. General Wu may be a poor politician, but no one has yet successfully proved him to be a poor military strategist.

The Peking and Tientsin Times, British paper in Tientsin, forecasts the mess which may be created in the Yangtsze Valley by the fact that the Tuchun of Chekiang will be fighting with his back to the wall. "If the war now breaks out to magnify his or Chi Hsieh-yuan's self-importance, the Chekiang Tuchun will be fighting with his back to the wall, and will be unlikely to be very scrupulous in regard to the instruments which he employs to resist his enemies. He will probably have to fight on two fronts—Kiangsu and Fukien and possibly to meet attacks from Anhwei and Kiangsi as well. In the circumstances, he will probably follow the traditional Chinese method of seeking to stir up trouble in his adversaries' territory, and if he is successful in securing the cooperation of one of the more powerful secret societies which flourish in the Yangtsze Valley, we may expect absolute anarchy in the lower Yangtsze Provinces. Should he succeed in averting immediate disaster, the war is almost certain to spread to North China, for the temptation to Marshal Chang Tso-lin 'to get a bit of his own back' will prove irresistible. With Kwangtung, Fukien, Kiangsi, Chihli, and Manchuria in a ferment, it is probable that other provinces will take a hand, and without knowing what it is all about, or precisely for what they are fighting, join in the fray."

The Trend Towards Anarchy

WHILE a drama of the first magnitude is being enacted near our doors, one is easily apt to overlook another drama of equal importance being unfolded farther south in the territory controlled by Dr. Sun Yat-sen and his supporters. Not since 1911 has a cosmic upheaval of such dimensions occurred in this region of the world as we are now witnessing in North, Central and South China—a struggle fraught with the gravest consequences to the people of this country. It would be worth while to digress for a moment from events in Chekiang and Kiangsu in order the better to see what is happening in South China. The formation of the Merchant Volunteer Corps in Canton is the expression of the popular revolt against misgovernment and the complete breakdown of authority. Word just received from that quarter tells us that many people still appear to believe that serious trouble will yet break out in Canton between the Government and the Volunteers, while in other circles the equally firm conviction is entertained that neither side has any stomach for fighting. Time alone will show which side is right.

In the meantime, we are witnessing the first fruits of the Canton Revolutionary Government's contact with Bolshevik agents from Moscow. Dr. Sun's spokesmen, from time to time, have vociferously denied that Canton was undergoing a process of gradual Bolshevisation by the emissaries from Moscow, but the course of events has belied this contention. Today's telegrams communicate the significant information that the first battalion of the Canton Labor Corps, known in Canton as the Red Army, was formally organised on the afternoon of August 26 under the auspices of the Kuomintang Political Party, thus adding another chapter to an already sinister record enjoyed by that Party, which has been responsible for no little mischief during the past decade. Mr. Sze Bok, a labor union leader, has been elected commanding officer, with Mr. Lau Kung-soo and Mr. Soo Fei-chen as his lieutenants. The quarters of these men, now numbering nearly three hundred, will soon be located at the residence of Mr. Chan Kung-shau, the second in command of the Kwangtung Province Merchants Volunteer Corps, whom Dr. Sun Yat-sen charges with treason, as a result of his protest against the recent arms seizure by the authorities. The residence of Mr. Chan has been confiscated by Dr. Sun—an event quite in keeping with the policy of spoliation consistently pursued by the Canton authorities, who were, at one time, promising a new heaven and a new earth to the people of South China. As if the Labor Corps were not enough, the Red Army of the Kuomintang Party is also organising a Farmer Corps. There will be twenty battalions of farmers trained to fight for the Kuomintang cause—doubtless for the glory of democratic institutions of the brand we have come to associate with Canton.

We cannot help wondering how long the oppressed populace of South China will suffer the yoke of military thraldom to be fastened on their neck. One has become so accustomed to the sight of blood in this part of the world that one's sympathies become jaded and we are no longer able to work ourselves up to that fine fury which the commission of acts of savagery usually develops in the average man. The public, both foreign and Chinese, are no longer moved at announcements such as this: "Three lives were lost on the afternoon of August 28 in Canton consequent upon the attempt of Dr. Sun Yat-sen to enforce his Central Bank paper money on the market." The remarkable patience and forbearance of a long suffering populace and the gratuitous brutality of the Canton Bolsheviks furnish such a study in contrast that we are afforded an effective illustration of the fact that the philosophy of the people of China and that of the various "Governments" are as wide apart as the two Poles. The incident is worth quoting in the editorial columns of every Chinese newspaper so that it may receive the fullest possible publicity and open the eyes of foreign Governments to the realities of the situation in China. Dr. Sun instructs his "Reds" not to take anything from the people by force, but he has no scruples in suggesting to his armed followers to tender spurious notes to tradesmen which, in principle, is equally pernicious. When human life is accounted so cheap that Dr. Sun's "Reds" attempt to shoot a butcher when the latter refuses to accept counterfeit notes, and in the dispute life is lost, the situation becomes nothing less than a relapse into barbarism reminiscent of the Middle Ages.

The possession of armed power oftentimes leads to abuse of that power, and that is precisely what is happening in China today. The time may not be far off when the very instrument created by China's militarists will turn against the latter and rend them, for the whole course of history teaches us that the end of despots is brought about by the very forces they themselves have set in motion.

THE BEST OF LIFE

You say, my dear Anushka, that you have nothing but your dreams; you are full of dreams; drunk every day with ideals. And you speak of this as if it were a weakness, something to be ashamed of.

You are young. All your years slant upward. Before you, life stretches out as a vast untried adventure. Love is yet to come, and success, and a career. Let me, who am over the hillcrest and on the westering slope, talk to you a bit.

And looking back on all that I have had and felt and lived, let me say to you that the best of all was the dream. Not what I got but which I longed for, not what I attained unto but what I aimed at, these are my harvest, my treasures.

I fished in the sea, but the biggest fish got away. I hunted in the wood, but the brightest birds, the fleetest deer, were those I glimpsed and saw as they vanished.

The things I have been, gazed at with full vision, were cheap and tawdry compared to those that flashed by and were caught only by the tail of my eye.

What I have done is a poor compromise. What I dreamed of doing was wonderful. I have composed music such as the angels might covet to sing. I have painted pictures, carved statues, built palaces, such as no hands of flesh could accomplish.

I have said words that broke hearts with their infinite tragedy, and healed them again with their divine accent of consolation. I have written books that swayed the world's heart as the summer wind bends the wheatfield.

But it was all in the realm of might-have-been, beyond the mountains of the possible.

This real self I am afraid for you to know. It is so commonplace. I am just a man, and the worse for wear. I am not a bit splendid nor dazzling, but by way of being shop-worn.

It is only my beautiful secret that comforts me to take of what I dreamed; it is only this that encourages me to take my journey hopefully among the stars when my release comes; perhaps there, in some cozy planet among the Pleiades, or dwelling as a pure flame among the firespirits that play about the petals of Dante's Rose of Heaven, perhaps there I shall find a pot of gold at the end of my rainbow.

But as far as this earthly career is concerned, Anushka, the rainbow has been more worth than the gold. Yet I am not sad nor disillusioned, for, listen, I still have my dreams, my skies of maybe still overarch with infinitude my earth that is.

What I have is pitiful enough. Ah, but what I thought I was getting! I am as one who gathers shells and sea-beauties and takes them home, and finds them withered, yet remembers the days on the shore. You recall what the poet, said?

"I wiped away the weeds and foam,
I fetched my sea-born treasures home,
But the poor, unsightly, noisome thing
Had left their beauty on the shore
With the sun and the sand and the wild uproar."

So hold your dreams, Anushka, and never let them go, for when you are old they will be the best residue of life.

Getting The Rivers At Work

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

It is the kind of story I like that the U. S. Geological Survey tells about the adventures of its engineers during 1923. Running the rapids of the Canon of the Colorado, and of other wild western streams and exploring the mountains not for sport but for science and the progress of industry. That is life! It calls for brains and purpose as well as for strength, activity and courage. Believe me, much of its charm would quickly evaporate if these things were done merely for sport and exercise.

Savages have wild life in that form all the time, but lacking foreseeing purpose, they wear out their days in humdrum, unintelligent enjoyment. Then along comes the engineer, with the whip of knowledge in his hand, and nature springs to her feet for him, and begins to reveal her secrets and her hidden powers.

Falling water! Running water! The mountains and hills are full of it, and every gallon of it is full of mechanical energy. Sun-born, since it is the energy of the sunbeams that releases it from the seas, to be carried cloud-high and mountain-high, there to change into rain, and so into fountains, streams and rivers.

The sun first vaporizes it; then gravity forces it skyward; then lowering temperature rechanges it to water; then, finally, gravity again takes charge and brings it back to sea-level, in millions of leaping rapids, cataracts and shutes.

While primitive man was disputing the possession of his cavern homes wth prehistoric beasts, and making cunning tools, weapons and ornaments of flint, ivory, and bone, admirably done even to modern eyes, the waters were falling and flowing all about him, yet he did not contrive the simplest water-wheels to recover and utilize that roaring, murmuring, and chattering energy.

The world had to wait for the engineer—and he was a late product. But now we have him [illegible] master of harness!

the laws of electric energy, inspired by the swiftness of his conquests—and, at sight of him, the cataracts and rivers begin to bow to human wishes.

Think of it! Last year the exploring parties of the Geological Survey discovered two and a half millions of utilizable horsepower running to waste in the Colorado and other Western rivers. And there is more where that was found. As time goes on, and our means of utilizing the power of flowing water become more complete and searching, an abundance of such power will be found, still undiscovered or unused, in all parts of the country, wherever there are hills and streams.

We are not alone in the search. Over the whole world the engineers are on the trail. In the periodical press of France, where I am at the present writing, one continually sees the words "houille blanche," or "white coal," the somewhat far-fetched term invented to popularize the effort to make the power of the rivers and waterfalls available to industry in the place of coal.

In the Alps, the Pyrenees, the south-central mountains, where Caesar and Vercingetorix fought, the gleam of the "white coal" has come to possess a new inspiration for all beholders, since they see in it the promise of more power for the country.

In Italy, with its long, high spine of the Apennines, and with its broad northern shoulders lying on the main Alps, the wealth of water power is very great, and Italian genius, second to none, is fast bringing it into use.

We may see Switzerland, the heart of the Alps, become a world's leader of industry because of the power that grinds rock as wheat is ground under a millstone, and then suppose the ingenuity of modern science capable of putting a glacier to work by the intermediation of electro-magnetic energy. The giant called Mont Blanc has the strength of an Atlas, slow and irresistible—it may be that, one day, we shall see him, too, with his white-hooded brethren, laboring in the engineer's

Does Marriage Destroy Romance?

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Who Holds a Unique Position in the Writing World as an Authority on the Problems of Girls.

All of us crave romance. All of us long for adventure. And most of us believe that romance must be built on adventure and change and the shifting sands of excitement. So we feel that when marriage comes out of the church door love flies out of the heart's window. This sometimes happens when romance has no real love for its foundation stone.

When a romantic attachment springs up between two people who have nothing in common but the biological pull they exert on each other marriage and the routine of well-ordered days may indeed destroy the illusion they mistook for romance.

Besides the romance for which we all long in order to keep our orderly days from being humdrum affairs of dull routine we need companionship, understanding, devotion and the protection real love affords. We need them. But we are a bit cynical about attaining them.

Can we obtain all these soul necessities? Above all, can we find them in one person and unite our fortunes with his according to the old fairy tale formula, "and so they were married and lived happy ever after?"

Why not?

Marriage is something more than the thrill of wild moments. It is something more than emotional fulfillment.

Romance is sometimes nothing but a dramatic gesture. Marriage is the drama of life itself.

If marriage is to last and to include the romance we all crave, it must have a sturdy foundation. No house of love can be built on the sands of passion without the risk that it will yield to the tides of curiosity or satiety or restlessness.

Why do the rash and wildly romantic elopements of Sweet Sixteen and Dashing Twenty generally end in the divorce courts? Because the tremendous physical attraction youth feels when its emotions are first surging into being swamps everything in its vicinity, and youth mates as simply and instinctively as the animals do. But human youth has mental processes, maturing and needing their outlet as much as emotion needs its way and its sway. There is intellectual hunger as well as heart hunger. And when two young things go rushing into marriage because they imagine they can't live without each other they face the inevitable moment when they may find they can't live with each other.

Love is not all "bread and cheese and kisses." The economic necessities which are supposed to kill the romance of marriage may be guilty of contributory negligence. The fading of the blow of passion plays its part. But in the final analysis, the reason men and women tire of their "splendid passions" is because emotion without intellectual satisfaction is not enough to hold a man or woman.

We may yearn to be stimulated. We need to be interested. Boredom is the thing no one can endure when once he has learned to use his mind.

Marriages fail because folks find out they never had a thing in common but passion, because they yearn for new worlds to conquer, because the grind of earning a living makes them irritable, because they are weak and restless, because they have not learned to respect each other's personalities—or for any of a hundred other reasons of human ennui or weariness.

Many men and women go a-seeking romance outside of marriage because they have an absurd notion that marriage precludes romance. But can you think of any romantic adventure more thrilling than learning to know and guard and appeal to the heart and mind and tenderness of the man or woman you really love? Isn't there a glorious romantic adventure in cherishing and holding your sweetheart against the rivals life brings across your path? Isn't it exciting to hold yourself and your temper and your selfishness and your selfishness and your suspicion and your sense of possession in leash an so retain your sweetheart's devotion and gratitude?

The first thrill of your lover's touch may vanish—but boredom and weariness do not inevitably follow. The fact that a girl has become your bride doesn't mean that you are chained to a dull routine of tameness and assurance and security.

Winning love is easy. Nature herself helps you to the initial victory. Only your own understanding can win for you the perpetual and incessant victories you must gain to old that delicate thing known as "fancy."

Marriage becomes a drab and tiring thing unless it is stimulated and inspired and galvanized to ever-new life by the electricity of love.

Marriage becomes a galling chain if it lacks the freedom that every human being has a right to expect and demand.

Nothing can be duller and more carking than to account for your every thought to someone who insists that she has a right to your soul because you have pledged yourself to cherish her.

Love has to be won anew each day. Marriage is dull when a man and woman put love in a cage and bid it stay there. It does not sing when it is imprisoned. It only waits for the cage door to open and give it a chance at freedom.

But when man and woman realise that they have a claim on love only so long as they make love long to stay with them, then the greatest and most beautiful romance of life will be marriage.

DRESS

By Mary Marshall

Parasols of the Season Are Trimmed with Feathers, Flowers and Ribbons

"They have taken the trimming off their hats and put it on parasols," commented an observer at a smart summer resort, recently. And such really might seem to be the case, for milliners have never before so consistently avoided over-trimming of hats, or sent so many hats from their workrooms practically devoid of any trimming whatever.

If we took no other note than this from the Spanish vogue that is manifesting itself at the present time we should have gained enough to make it worth while. For no native costumery in the world shows such effective use of the untrimmed or very meagerly trimmed hat as does that of Spain. What would the wide-brimmed black Spanish sailor be if it were crowded with confusion of trimming—ostrich plumes, ribbons, and all the other knick-nacks and gee-gaws that for the last six hundred years, more or less, occidental women have regarded as essential to the completion of their headgear? Imagine how trivial would be the effect of the bolero hat worn by the Spanish dancer were it adorned otherwise than with the traditional pompon!

A certain amount of trimming seems to be essential to the happiness of most women, and so they seem to have made their parasols suffer with the weight of trimming from which their hats were relieved. Artificial roses as trimming of parasols are not a novelty. They experimented with it in the days of the second empire in France. One of the most striking of the ornamented parasols at a certain smart resort recently was of white crepe georgette trimmed with a half dozen very large pink roses. A close second was a parasol of white taffeta trimmed with black birds made of real plumage and bound with black chiffon. Recently in England quite a stir was made by a parasol that sported the entire plumage of a real pheasant.

Petal parasols of various colors are legion. The foundation is chiffon and over this are placed taffeta silk petals as long as the distance from the ferrule to the edge of the parasol.

Two striking parasols. The one above is of mauve crepe georgette trimmed with large artificial roses. The one below is of white taffeta trimmed with blackbirds and bound with black chiffon.

GHEE

Every child who has read the story of Little Black Sambo, has heard of ghee. The tigers, you know, after they had chased each other around a tree for ever so long "just melted away, and there was nothing left but a great big pool of melted butted (or 'ghee,' as it is called in India." But not every one who hears of this story realizes what an important food this is in India. It is a sort of clarified butter made by boiling butter until the water evaporates. It is usually liquid. It may be made from the milk of cows, or buffaloes. Strangely enough it is highly valued when it has been kept a long time and it actually keep sweet for a very long time. At ten years of age it becomes a reddish color and is looked upon as a delicacy. At a hundred years it is a treasure indeed and then is said to posses wonderful medicinal properties. It has been used as a slave for wounds, etc.; for countless generations and doubtless was quite beneficial.

DESSERTS FOR THE LIGHT DINNER

For the sweet course of the light summer dinner there is nothing more grateful than an iced or chilled dessert. A delicious one is orange cream parfait, which is easy to make. The yolks of six eggs and a dessert-spoonful of orange flowers water are allowed to boil up once in a saucepan with two quarts of cream. The mixture is then strained through a sieve and the resulting liquid, with three quarters of a pound of powdered sugar dissolved in it, is frozen. The parfait should be served in sherbet glasses set on cut-glass dessert plates. The stems of the glasses may be surrounded with green leaves and white blossoms, and it is pretty to place one or two blossoms on the top of each glass of parfait.

Once Overs

BY J. J. MUNDY

Don't count yourself on a level with the great majority, neither set yourself on such a pinnacle of superiority that you think there is no room for improvement.

You may have pulled yourself out of the handicap of a poor start in life.

Thousands suffer the same handicap.

You may have passed many of those who at one time looked down upon you as unworthy of special notice, but you are only one of many thousands who have had as much success.

When you begin to pat yourself on the back, you begin to lessen your effort.

When you lessen your efforts you start down the ladder which ends in failure, so watch out!

Do not use the attainments of any other man as a basis for your ambition since you started equally handicapped.

You should make a mark wholly independent of what others do.

If you have not been successful as the world counts success, do not lay it to hard luck, but examine yourself more closely.

You may have overlooked an important element to success.

Blaming your "luck" will not get you anywhere.

Our Advertising

May be copied, our methods imitated,
But O.I.C. Service can never be equalled in the fitting of Comfortable-Becoming Classes at Reasonable Prices

Established two decades by one of the first foreign opticians in Shanghai, we are the first extensive and Largest Optical Advertisers in the Orient.

We were first to incorporate the Service of Oculist—Optometrist—Optician together with our own completely equipped manufacturing laboratory on the premises.

The O.I.C. has grown faster than any other local optician.

We were first to formulate and publish a Standard Guarantee of both our Examination and Glasses.

We were first to inaugurate a standard "one price" system on all frames—with prices marked in plain figures.

We were first to offer Genuine Sir Wm. Crookes' Toric Lenses ground to any prescription for $5.00 per pair, when others charge from $15 to $25.00. We were first to institut a repair Service whereby we duplicate and replace any broken lense for $1.00—regardless of the prescription in genuine Toric, Flat, White or Crookes Glass.

We were first to inaugurate "No charge for Small Repairs"—"Lense Duplicated while you wait"—"Cases and Antiseptic Cleaners Free"—"No charge for adjustments—Springs or Screws." Proof That O.I.C. is appreciated is in the fact that the leading business and professional men in China, including our Municipal Councillors are sponsors of O.I.C. Service and wearers of O.I.C. Glasses.

Tense Situation In Fukien Is Somewhat Relieved Now

(China Press Correspondence)

Foochow, August 26.—The tense situation which existed two or three days ago, has been somewhat relieved. General Sun left for the up-river districts on August 25. About ten that morning, he walked with a bodyguard of ten odd soldiers to pay his parting respects to Governor Sah and on that occasion he told the Governor that he would be back in one month at the earliest and two months at the latest. At about five that afternoon he and the higher officials of his yamen boarded boats at the Upper Bridge. It is reported that Taoyin Tu also accompanied him.

It would seem that Sun's departure was hastened by the report that the forces of Tsang Chih-p'ing and Yang Hus-chao have actually reached the border of Chien On and that it was to oppose the forces of these two and to protect the province from invasion that the up-river expedition was undertaken.

The relentless capture of burden bearers during the last few nights was also occasioned by this apparent need of haste.

The attack on Chekiang which lately has been such common talk, does not seem to be a matter of the near future. There is little doubt but that Wu Pei-fu's plan was for Fukien, Ankwei and Nanking (i. e. a part of Kiangsu), to unite in compelling Chekiang to recognise the Central Government and after this had been accomplished to attack and subdue Kwangtung. But such an alliance for such a purpose, just at this time, would be impossible.

Anhwei has troubles enough at home. Nanking is no match for Lu Yung-hsiang and Fukien would certainly not attack Chekiang alone. Wu Pei-fu dare not make any move himself for he is being closely watched by Chang Tso-lin and other forces in sympathy with him, and any move by Wu would be met by a counter move by Chang.

It has been thought that Sun had in mind to attack Lu Hsing-pang who was apparently encroaching upon the territory of Sun's most trusty general Meng Chao-yueh and such an attack would doubtless have taken place had the two leaders not come to an understanding. Sun was to be allowed to pass through Lu's territory on condition that he would be left in quiet possession of his domain.

There is a fairly reliable report that Chou troops have closely followed Sun's in order to prevent a repetition of the coup-de-etat indulged in when Sun Crove Wang Yun-Ch'uan from Foochow. Chou's forces are taking possession of the country as soon as vacated by the advance of Sun's army. Although Sun has left Foochow, much of the control of affairs which would naturally belong to the Tuli is still held by Sun. Before his departure he established a military supply bureau and placed his own man Ts'ai P'u at the head. All monies for the military must be received and disbursed by this bureau and Chou himself must apply to this bureau for funds. It is reported that on August 24, the day before his departure, Sun asked the finance commissioner Ch'en for $500 000. The latter appealed to Governor Sah, and the two went to the Chamber of Commerce where deliberations took place. It is believed Sun got something but just how much is not known.

The report that Wang Hsien-ch'en has been executed in the Tuli's yamen, was premature. His ruthless execution of Brigade Commander Liu Hsiang-han, Wu Pei'fu's man, so enraged the other commanders that they joined with the family in accusing him to Wu Pei-fu, who promptly ordered Chou to arrest him. This was done and it was the intention to execute him but as a result of the efforts of one of the prominent lawyers of Foochow together with the efforts of some of the official class, exerted through a long telegram sent to Wu Pei-fu, his life has been spared. His official rank has been taken from him and he has been ordered to return to his home in Klangsu. He will probably take the first boat for Shanghai. His forces have been placed under Brigade Commander Li Fung-hsiang.
